1. A dialogue between two friends about the importance of reading newspaper.

Nabil : Hello, Nasir! How're you?

Nasir : I'm fine. What about you?

Nabil : I'm also fine. Where are you going?

Nasir : I'm going to buy a newspaper.

Nabil : Do you read newspaper regularly?

Nasir : Yes, it is an indispensable part (Acwinvh© Ask) of my daily life. Newspaper is a mirror of the world.

Nabil : Of course. We get various types of news in a newspaper such as current affairs, trade and commerce, literature, games and sports, etc.

Nasir : You're right. That's why newspaper is called the store house of knowledge. Without reading it, we cannot keep pace with the modern world.

Nabil : Absolutely. Those who don't read newspaper remain frogs of the well (Kzqv).

Nasir : Right you are. At the same time, newspapers are very helpful for our studies. Mere bookish knowledge is not sufficient.

Nabil : But you should keep in mind that sometimes false news leads to many mishaps (ANUb/wecwĖ/'yN©Ubv).

Nasir : Of course. But there is nothing unmixed blessing (Awewgk^a Avkxe©v`) in this world. We cannot deny the importance of reading newspaper in any way.

Nabil : I support you. Which section of a newspaper do you like most?

Nasir : I like the general knowledge section and literary articles. Which section do you like most?

Nabil : I like the study page and editorial column most. Thank you very much. Good bye.

Nasir : You're welcome. Good bye.

2. A dialogue between two friends about their aims in life.

Sobuj : Where are you going, Shanto?

Shanto : To my free literacy center. Don't you know I've opened a free school for the poor children?

Sobuj : Oh, yes. But I wonder you've started serving people at this young age.

Shanto : Yes, Sobuj. What may be better work than serving people?

Sobuj : What's your aim in life?

Shanto : To become an Army officer. I think there is hardly any profession like it to sacrifice one for the cause of motherland.

Sobuj : Right Shanto. I agree with you. I also want to spend my life for the betterment of the poor, sick and distressed (Amnvq) people.

Shanto : Then, what's your aim in life,?

Sobuj : I want to become a doctor. For this purpose, I'm in the way of preparing myself for the future.

Shanto : It's really a noble profession, Sobuj. But it would be nobler if you give free treatment to them.

Sobuj : Of course. Serving by giving free treatment to the poor people is my mission. Pray for me to Allah for my success.

Shanto : Why not? Pray for me too.

Sobuj : Ok, bye for now. See you.

Shanto : Bye, see you.

3. A dialogue about uses and abuses of cell/mobile phone.

Sweety : Hello, Farzana! How're you?

Farzana : I'm fine and what about you?

Sweety : I'm fine too. It's long time since I met you last.

Farzana : But we keep constant contact (wbqwgZ †hvMv†hvM) over the mobile phone.

- Sweety : Yes, this mobile phone has become a very important factor in our life. We cannot do without it for a single day.
- Farzana : Right. It has reduced (Kwg+q+Q) uncertainty, anxious waiting and painful suspense (DrKÉv). In fact, it has made our life easy and comfortable.
- Sweety : And it has made our global communication dynamic and faster.
- Farzana : But it has some disadvantages too.
- Sweety : Right you are. It causes brain tumor, genetic damage and many other incurable diseases.
- Farzana : Yes. During conversation, the blood pressure may get high and the red blood cells may get affected.
- Sweety : It's also dangerous for the children and pregnant women.
- Farzana : The criminals are also carrying out their operations with the help of it.
- Sweety : Besides, it causes a lot of harm to the teenagers. They can easily contact with their so called boy-friends in season and out of season (hLb-ZLb/mg+q Amg+q).
- Farzana : All these are very true. Though we are getting immense benefits from it, we should use it with care and caution to avoid its demerits.
- Sweety : Thank you.
- Farzana : Welcome.

4. A dialogue between two friends about tree plantation.

- Sumon : Hello, Rakib! How're you?
- Rakib : Fine, and you?
- Sumon : I'm also fine but I'm thinking about a matter.
- Rakib : What's the matter?
- Sumon : The matter is tree plantation. I think everybody should plant trees because trees are our best friend.
- Rakib : You're right because they help us with oxygen, shade, timber (KvV), fruits and flowers.
- Sumon : You know, herbal treatment is very popular in our country.
- Rakib : In a word, the usefulness of trees beggars description. We can make almost all kinds of furniture by trees.
- Sumon : Actually, we'd start a tree plantation campaign (Awfhvb/Kg@m~Px) in order to maintain ecological balance (cwi+e+ki fvimvg").
- Rakib : I think if we cannot maintain ecological balance, our country must face a great problem.
- Sumon : Right you are. Actually, it is a question of existence.
- Rakib : It's a matter of sorrow that many people are cutting down trees inconsiderately (wbwe©Pv+i).
- Sumon : If we cut one tree, we'll plant two trees.
- Rakib : People should also be made conscious about planting more and more trees.
- Sumon : Our government should motivate the people of our country and provide them with trees.
- Rakib : We'll arrange various kinds of programmes about tree plantation.
- Sumon : A great idea! Thanks for thinking better.
- Rakib : Thank you too.
- Sumon : See you again.

5. A dialogue between two friends on benefits of early rising.

- Zafi : Hello Zafi! How're you?
- Rafi : I'm fine. You?
- Zafi : I'm fine too. What time do you get up in the morning?
- Rafi : I usually get up from bed at around 9 o'clock. I watch TV and sleep late.
- Zafi : I see. You should rise early and get the benefits of early rising.
- Rafi : What are the benefits of early rising?
- Zafi : Don't you know the proverb: "Early to bed and early to rise make a man healthy, wealthy and wise"?

Zafi : If you get up early in the morning, you will get much time to learn your lessons, have breakfast, complete your homework, have bath and meal and then start for school and reach ahead of time.

Rafi : Yes, you are right. I can understand that by getting up early in the morning, I can make the best use of my time.

Zafi : Exactly! Besides, an early riser can work more and earn more to add to his income.

Rafi : You're right. I was in the dark. However, I'll start getting up early in the morning from tomorrow.

Zafi : It's certainly a wise decision. Thank you.

Rafi : You're most welcome. I really appreciate (cÖksmv Kwi) your suggestion.

6. A dialogue between two friends about illiteracy eradication.

Rima : Hello Rupa, how're you?

Rupa : I'm fine and what about you?

Rima : I'm also fine. I see you are absorbed (gMœ) in deep thought. Is there any problem?

Rupa : No, I've no personal problem. But I'm very upset about the problem of illiteracy in our country.

Rima : Oh, I see. Illiteracy is undoubtedly a great problem as well as a curse for our country.

Rupa : You're right. It's the root cause of ignorance that frustrates (e`vnZ K#i) all our development efforts.

Rima : Exactly! No development efforts can succeed unless illiteracy is eradicated (~i Kiv nq).

Rupa : Right you are. Our girls and women are the worst sufferers from illiteracy. But how can we get rid of this problem?

Rima : I think the government should take effective (Kvh©Ki) steps to solve this problem. The government should make education free up to graduate level and help the poor students financially.

Rupa : You are partly right. But only government cannot solve this problem. We all should come forward and work hand in hand to solve this problem.

Rima : It is okay! But the government should start adult schools again and take initiative so that our girls go to school and complete at least primary education.

Rupa : I agree with you! But creating mass awareness is very important in this case.

Rima : You are right. If we develop mass awareness among the guardians, they will be aware of the importance of education.

Rupa : Great! Students like us also can encourage the illiterate guardians for sending their children to school. We should do it because it is our social duty.

Rima : Exactly. If we all are sincere in words and deeds, eradicating illiteracy from our country is not impossible. Thank you.

Rupa : You're quite right. You are most welcome.

7. A dialogue between two friends on coming/ensuing (Avmbœ) examination.

Or, A dialogue between two friends about the preparation for the exam.

Sabbir : Good evening, Shishir!

Shishir : Good evening! How're you?

Sabbir : I'm fine but feeling a little bit nervous. What about you?

Shishir : I'm also fine. Why do you feel nervous?

Sabbir : I'm afraid of the examination.

Shishir : Haven't you completed your studies?

Sabbir : I've finished all the subjects but my preparation in English is not so well.

Shishir : Don't worry. I'm sure you will be able to cover up. How is your preparation in Mathematics?

Sabbir : I'm afraid I may not do well in Math.

Shishir : Actually Math is difficult to all. You've sharp memory and you'll do well. What about other subjects?

Sabbir : I've finished most of the subjects.

Shishir : Do you make your hand notes for all the subjects?

Shishir : Really, you'll get good marks in the exam.

Sabbir : Thank you friend for your inspiration (Aby#cÖiYv).

Shishir : It's my pleasure.

8. A dialogue between two friends about importance of acquiring computer knowledge.

Nayeem : Hi, Rashed ! How're you?

Rashed : I'm fine. What about you?

Nayeem : I'm also fine. Now tell me how was your introductory class on computer today?

Rashed : It was very good. I've learnt many things about computer and its usefulness.

Nayeem : Can you tell me the usefulness of a computer?

Rashed : Sure. Nowadays it has become very essential everywhere. In fact, modern life cannot be imagined without the uses of computer.

Nayeem : Do you think it can calculate faster than a trained mathematician (MwYZwe`)?

Rashed : Of course. It can do calculation faster than human being. It also helps us to store data process and recall them in time of need. In fact, life is very easy with computer.

Nayeem : What other things a computer can do besides calculations?

Rashed : It can run internet, play chess, compose music, and many other things. It is also being used vastly in educational institutions, banks, offices, railway stations, medical profession, space centers and everywhere else.

Nayeem : You really have known much about the importance of computer. Do you have any intention (B"Qv) to acquire computer knowledge?

Rashed : Yes, as it has become a part and parcel of our modern life.

Nayeem : Then keep trying. Thank you very much. Good bye.

Rashed : You're most welcome. Good bye.

9. A dialogue between two friends about the importance of learning English.

Rimi : Hello, Simi! How're you?

Simi : Fine. What about you?

Rimi : Fine too. What're you doing?

Simi : I'm reading an article about the importance of learning English.

Rimi : Nice! Actually English is essential in our every walk of life (Rxe#bi cÖwZwU +ÿ#î).

Simi : Of course. It's an international language. In this age of globalization, it plays an important role for communication.

Rimi : But it's unfortunate that we're far away.

Simi : Oh! It is really disgraceful (j#vKi). This situation must be changed if we want to keep pace with the modern world.

Rimi : Right. Our international relations and trade would be affected much if we do not learn English well.

Simi : Without efficiency (`ÿZv) in English, none can expect to receive higher studies as all the books on higher studies are written in English.

Rimi : Yes, it's only English that can help us to enter the storehouse of knowledge.

Simi : Absolutely.

Rimi : A sound command over English is a prerequisite (c~e©vek"K/c~e©kZ©) for good job and good salary.

Simi : Right you are.

Rimi : In fact, the importance of learning this language cannot be described in words. We must study and practice English seriously. Thank you.

Simi : You're most welcome. Good bye.

Myself : Along with my fever I have cough also.

Doctor : Okay, I see. When do you feel temperature high?

Myself : It's usually 5 pm to 10 pm.

Doctor : Do you feel any shivering sensation (Kuvcwbi Abyf,wZ/Kuvchw b teva) then?

Myself : Yes, I do.

Doctor : Do you get thirst then?

Myself : Yes, I get. I wish I could drink very cold water.

Doctor : Did you take any sort of treatment previously (Av†M/c~†e©)?

Myself : Yes, I was under the treatment of a village doctor.

Doctor : Please, show me the prescription (e"e"vc†).

Myself : Here it is, Sir.

Doctor : Oh, I see. Yours is malaria. He has prescribed you some medicines but you need a higher dose.

Myself : Please, give me some medicines to be cured.

Doctor : Yes, here are the right medicines.

Myself : Thank you, Sir.

Doctor : You're most welcome.

11. A dialogue between you and your friend about the causes and remedies of road accidents

Asif: Hey Rafi, I saw a terrible road accident on my way to school today. It was really shocking!

Rafi: Oh no! What happened?

Asif: A motorcycle was trying to overtake a truck at high speed. The truck driver didn't notice, and they collided. The motorcyclist was seriously injured.

Rafi: That's terrible! Road accidents are increasing day by day. I think reckless driving is one of the main causes.

Asif: Yes, you're right. Many drivers don't follow traffic rules. They speed, overtake carelessly, and sometimes even drive under the influence of alcohol.

Rafi: Another big problem is unfit vehicles. Many old buses and trucks are still on the road. Their brakes don't work properly, and they often break down in the middle of traffic.

Asif: Exactly! Poor road conditions also contribute to accidents. Some roads have potholes, while others have no proper traffic signals. Pedestrians find it difficult to cross roads safely.

Rafi: That's true. Many people don't use footbridges or zebra crossings. Instead, they run across the road, increasing the risk of accidents.

Asif: And don't forget about distracted driving. Many drivers use mobile phones while driving. They text or talk on the phone, which leads to crashes.

Rafi: So true! But what can we do to reduce road accidents?

Asif: First, the government should strictly enforce traffic laws. Anyone who breaks traffic rules should be heavily fined or even have their license suspended.

Rafi: I agree! Also, drivers should be properly trained before getting a license. Many people drive without knowing all the traffic rules.

Asif: Yes, and vehicles should be checked regularly to make sure they are roadworthy. Old and unfit vehicles should not be allowed on the roads.

Rafi: Public awareness is also important. People should be educated about road safety through campaigns, advertisements, and school programs.

Asif: Absolutely! Let's always be cautious and encourage others to do the same.

Rafi: Agreed! Road safety is everyone's responsibility.

12. A dialogue on merits and demerits of city life and country/village/rural life.

Eva : Hello, Shova! How're you?

Shova : I'm fine and you?

Eva : I'm not so fine. I am fed up with my city life, so I'm going to my village home today.

Shova : What do you mean? I can understand nothing. Please let me know in detail.

Eva : Life in the city seems to me very artificial (K...wġ). I'm bored of this city life.

Shova : What are the troubles you face?

Eva : Noise, crowd, dirt, smoke, bad smell (˘M©Ühy³/wekªx) and what not?

Shova : It means you prefer a dull, sluggish life (GKwU Avb˘`nxb, Ajm/gš'i Rxeb) among a set of illiterate people. There is no charm, no entertainment, no cinema, no theatre, and not even a good road.

Eva : But you've forgotten to mention (D†jØL Kiv) the green fields and the streams (†QvU b`x), the smile of flowers in village. Though people are illiterate there, they're simple, innocent (wb®úvc) and sympathetic (mnvbyf,wZkxj/`iw`).

Shova : It is poet's dream!

Eva : But there is beauty of nature, peace and sacred (cweġ) happiness everywhere.

Shova : You must know that beauty does not help one in practical life. There are no doctor, no hospital, no good school in villages.

Eva : But you can have fresh food, milk, fish, and vegetables in villages.

Shova : Okay, live in your village and leave me for the city.

Eva : Certainly! However, I would appreciate (cÖksmv Kiv) if you visit my village. Thank you.

Shova : You're most welcome.

13. A dialogue between two friends about their plan after SSC examination.

Myself : Hello, how're you?

My friend : Fine. What about you?

Myself : I'm also fine. What're you going to do after SSC exam?

My friend : After SSC exam I want to go to Chittagong. Please tell me about your plan.

Myself : I've a good plan after SSC examination.

My friend : May I know about that?

Myself : Sure. Why not? After SSC examination, I'll go to my native village and make an arrangement for teaching my nearby villagers.

My friend : Why? Are they illiterate and unable to read and write?

Myself : Yes, friend. They're illiterate.

My friend : What will you teach them?

Myself : First, I'll teach them how to read and write.

My friend : It's really difficult to teach the illiterate people reading and writing. But I think you'll be able to do this because you've the quality.

Myself : Thank you very much for encouraging me. And will you not tell me why are you going to Chittagong?

My friend : Oh, yes. My uncle lives there. I'd like to pay a visit to Cox's Bazar with the family of my uncle.

Masum : I'm not well. I've been suffering from cough but what about you?

Kabir : I'm fine, but you've become a chain smoker nowadays. Smoking may be one of the main causes of your sickness.

Masum : The doctor also said so. Moreover, he said that smoking might cause cancer, heart attack, high blood pressure and some other serious diseases.

Kabir : The doctor said rightly.

Masum : Besides, tobacco hinders (eˈvnZ Kʰi/evav tˈq) the easy flow of blood.

Librarian : That's a classic! Let me check if it's available. Yes, we have a few copies available in the literature section.

Asif : That's wonderful! Could you please tell me where I can find it?

Librarian : Sure! Go to the literature section on the second shelf from the right. You'll find Shakespeare's works there.

Asif : Thank you! I'll go and get it now.

Librarian : Did you find it?

Asif : Yes! Here it is.

Librarian : Alright. I will now issue this book under your name. The borrowing period is 14 days. Please return it on time to avoid any late fines.

Asif : Understood. If I need more time, can I renew it?

Librarian : Yes, you can renew it once, but you need to do so before the due date. If someone else has already reserved it, you'll have to return it on time.

Asif : Got it. I will make sure to return or renew it on time.

Librarian : Good! Here's your book. Take good care of it.

Asif : I will! Thank you so much for your help.

Librarian : You're welcome. Enjoy reading!

Asif: Hey Rafi, have you noticed how excited everyone is about the upcoming inter-school football tournament?

Rafi: Yes! Sports events always bring so much energy. But you know, some students don't take games and sports seriously. They think it's just a waste of time.

Asif: That's a common misconception. In reality, sports are essential for both our physical and mental well-being. They keep us fit, active, and healthy.

Rafi: Absolutely! Playing sports regularly improves our stamina and strengthens our muscles. It also helps in maintaining a healthy weight.

Asif: Not just that, sports also teach us important life lessons. They instill discipline, teamwork, and leadership skills, which are useful in every stage of life.

Rafi: That's true. Team games like football, cricket, and basketball require cooperation and coordination. These skills help us in studies and professional life as well.

Asif: Exactly! Plus, sports improve concentration and decision-making abilities. When we play a fast-paced game, we have to make quick decisions, which sharpens our mind.

Rafi: That's a good point. And you know, sports are also great for reducing stress. Whenever I feel overwhelmed with studies, I go for a short game of badminton, and it refreshes my mind.

Asif: Same here! Engaging in sports helps to release tension and improves our mood. It also prevents anxiety and depression.

Rafi: Besides, playing sports brings people together. It strengthens friendships and creates a strong bond among teammates.

Asif: Yes! And it's not just about playing. Watching sports also brings excitement. Just look at how the whole country unites during big cricket matches!

Rafi: Exactly! Sports also open career opportunities. Many athletes become professional players, coaches, or fitness trainers.

Asif: That's right. And even if someone doesn't choose sports as a career, staying active helps in leading a healthy and balanced life.

Rafi: I totally agree. I think schools should encourage students to take part in sports along with studies.

Asif: Yes, a balance between education and physical activities is very important. We should participate in at least one sport regularly.

Rafi: Absolutely! In fact, let's go play a game of football this afternoon!

Asif: Great idea! Let's do it!

17. A dialogue between two friends about good effects of morning walk.

Anando : Yes. I always get up early in the morning and go for morning walk.

Asif : Is early rising good for health?

Anando : Of course. The man who rises early in the morning, can take some exercise and walk in the morning fresh air in the open field. The morning air refreshes (mʃɹɛʃɪz) both body and mind.

Asif : Where do you go for morning walk?

Anando : Generally I walk in the field which is quite near. Sometimes, I go for a long walk.

Asif : How long do you walk?

Anando : Normally one hour. It may vary on some situation.

Asif : I was completely in the dark. I will start rising in the morning.

Anando : If you cultivate the habit of morning walk, you will realize its importance.

Asif : Would you help me in this regard?

Anando : How can I help you?

Asif : You can take me with you for morning walk.

18. A dialogue between you and your friend about the ways of learning English/how to improve skills in English/how to learn English

Asif: Hey Rafi, I've noticed that English is becoming more important in every field. What do you think?

Rafi: You're absolutely right, Asif! Whether it's for studies, jobs, or even traveling, English is essential. But honestly, I find it a bit difficult to learn.

Asif: I understand. Many people struggle with English, but with regular practice, anyone can improve.

Rafi: That's true. But where should I start?

Asif: Well, the first step is to build a strong vocabulary. The more words you know, the easier it becomes to express yourself. Try learning at least five new words every day.

Rafi: That sounds manageable. But how do I remember so many words?

Asif: Use them in sentences! When you learn a new word, try to use it in your daily conversations and writing. That way, it sticks in your mind.

Rafi: That's a good idea! What about grammar? I often make mistakes.

Asif: Grammar is important, but don't worry too much about it at first. You can learn by reading English books, newspapers, and articles. When you see proper sentence structures repeatedly, your grammar will improve naturally.

Rafi: That makes sense. Speaking is another challenge for me. I feel nervous while speaking English.

Asif: That's normal! The best way to overcome fear is to practice speaking every day. Try talking to friends in English, even if you make mistakes.

Rafi: But what if I don't have anyone to practice with?

Asif: You can talk to yourself in English! Stand in front of a mirror and practice speaking on different topics. You can also watch English movies or listen to English podcasts.

Rafi: Oh! Watching movies sounds like a fun way to learn.

Asif: Yes! Start with movies that have subtitles. It helps in understanding pronunciation and sentence formation.

Rafi: That's great advice! What about writing skills?

Asif: Keep a journal! Write a short paragraph daily about your day, your thoughts, or anything interesting. Writing regularly helps improve sentence structure and grammar.

Rafi: That's a good idea! Should I also read English books?

Asif: Absolutely! Start with simple storybooks and gradually move to novels. Reading helps improve comprehension and expands vocabulary.

Rafi: This all sounds helpful, but consistency is my biggest problem. I start learning but lose interest after a few days.

Asif: That's because you don't make it fun! Set small goals, reward yourself, and mix learning with enjoyable activities like games, quizzes, or songs in English.

Rafi: That's smart! I'll try these methods from today.

Asif: That's the spirit! Learning English takes time, but with regular practice, you'll see improvement.

Rafi: Thanks, Asif! Let's try speaking in English for a few minutes every day.

Asif: Great idea! Let's start right now!

19. A dialogue between Riad and Zihad about importance of physical exercise.

Riad : Hi Zihad, how're you?

Zihad : I'm fine. And you?

Riad : I'm also fine. Where are you coming from in this early morning?

Zihad : Why? Don't you know that I take physical exercise regularly in the open field?

Riad : Physical exercise! I simply know that it is good for health. Would you tell me about it in detail?

Zihad : Of course, physical exercise helps us to grow properly. It eases (mɪnR Kɪi) the movement of the limbs (A½-cÖZ½) of our body. It also makes us physically strong and fit for work.

Riad : Really! Any more benefits?

20. A dialogue between two friends on visiting interesting places in Dhaka city.

- Sumon : Hello Rumon! How're you?
- Rumon : I'm fine. What about you?
- Sumon : I'm fine too. When did you come from Dhaka?
- Rumon : I came from Dhaka yesterday in the evening.
- Sumon : How long did you stay there?
- Rumon : I stayed there for a week.
- Sumon : How did you enjoy there?
- Rumon : Oh! It was very exciting and enjoyable. It's difficult to describe in words.
- Sumon : What important sites of Dhaka have you visited?
- Rumon : I've visited many important sites with my cousin. Almost everyday we used to go out for important site seeing.
- Sumon : Could you please mention (DʔjəL Kiv) some important places of Dhaka you have visited?
- Rumon : Yes, I've visited the National Museum, the National Zoo, the Central Saheed Minar, the Curzon Hall, the Ahsan Manjil, the Shangsad Bhaban, the Botanical Garden, and many other places.
- Sumon : Oh, my God! I see you spent wonderful time in Dhaka.
- Rumon : Yes. My first visit to Dhaka was of great interest. It has widened my knowledge and experience.
- Sumon : Thank you for giving me a description of your visit to Dhaka city.
- Rumon : You're most welcome.

21. A dialogue between two friends about the adverse effects of load-shedding.

- Basar : Hello, Samin!, How're you?
- Samin : Not fine at all.
- Basar : What's the problem?
- Samin : Load-shedding is the problem. Our exam is knocking at the door and I could not read.
- Basar : Right you are. Really, it's very disgusting (weiw³Ki). I lose my concentration (gʔbvʔhvM) when load-shedding occurs.
- Samin : God knows what will happen to me if this goes on in this way.
- Basar : Actually, all classes of people are suffering from it. All kinds of activities remain stagnant (ˈwei) because of load-shedding.
- Samin : Hospitals, banks, courts, schools and colleges become almost inactive during load-shedding. Moreover, it becomes intolerable in hot weather.
- Basar : Problems are everywhere. What's the solution?
- Samin : I think that more power plants (we`y`r Drcv`b ʔKʔ`a) should be set up and system loss should be reduced.
- Basar : Not only that, illegal connections should be banned. I think that consciousness can play a vital role in this regard.
- Samin : The wastage of electricity should be stopped and strict laws should be introduced.
- Basar : You know that electricity is the driving force (PvwjKv kw³) of a country. So, it should be ensured at any cost.
- Samin : You know that lack of electricity means lack of production.

22. A dialogue between Kuddus and Salam about the price hike

Kuddus: Salam, have you noticed how expensive everything has become lately? The price of daily essentials is increasing every day!

Salam: Yes, Kuddus, it's really frustrating. Just last week, I bought a kilogram of onions for 50 taka, and today it's 90 taka! I don't know how middle-class families are managing.

Kuddus: Exactly! Rice, lentils, oil, vegetables—everything is getting costlier. Even the price of eggs and fish has gone up. How will ordinary people survive?

Salam: The worst part is that wages are not increasing at the same rate. People with limited income are suffering the most. It's getting harder to afford basic necessities.

Kuddus: You're absolutely right. I heard that the main reasons for the price hike are supply shortages, high transportation costs, and inflation.

Salam: Yes, and don't forget dishonest traders. Some businessmen hoard products to create an artificial crisis and then sell them at higher prices.

Kuddus: That's a serious issue! The government should take strict action against such unethical practices.

Salam: True! There should be regular market monitoring to prevent illegal price manipulation. Also, importing essential goods in times of shortage can help stabilize the prices.

Kuddus: That's a good point. But we also need long-term solutions, like increasing agricultural production and reducing dependency on imported goods.

Salam: Yes! And I think we should also be careful with our spending. We must avoid unnecessary expenses and buy only what we need.

Kuddus: That's a smart approach. We should also support local farmers and small businesses instead of relying too much on big markets.

Salam: Absolutely! Let's hope the government takes effective steps to control the price hike soon. Otherwise, it will be very difficult for ordinary people to survive.

Kuddus: Yes, Salam. We must stay informed and raise awareness about this issue. Only then can we bring about real change.

Salam: That's right! Let's keep an eye on the market and try to manage our expenses wisely.

23. A dialogue between two friends on environmental pollution.

Kamrul : Hello, Zarif! How're you?

Zarif : I'm fine and you?

Kamrul : I'm also fine. You look so worried (DwØMœ)?

Zarif : You're right. I'm somewhat (wKQyUv) worried about environment pollution.

Kamrul : Oh, Yes! Our environment is in a great danger. It's being polluted severely.

Zarif : You're absolutely right. The problem of environment pollution is so acute (Zxeª/tewk) that it has become a major threat for the human beings as well as the animals.

Kamrul : Exactly! But what are you thinking about its consequences (cwiYwZ/djvdj)?

Zarif : The consequence of environmental pollution is serious. It gives rise to ecological imbalance and brings about natural disasters.

Myself : May I come in, Sir?

Manager : Yes, come in. Have your seat, please.

Myself : Oh, sure. Thank you.

Manager : How can I help you?

Myself : I would like to open an account with your bank.

Manager : What kind of bank account do you want to open—Savings or Current?

Myself : Savings Account.

Manager : What are you?

Myself : I'm a student. I read in class ten.

Manager : I see. Now take this application form. You will have to fill in the form and be introduced by an identifier (kbv³Kvix) —a person who has a bank account with us. He must put his signature and write his address and account number in the relevant part (mswkøó Asþk) of the application.

Runa : Hello Rimi! How're you?

Rimi : I'm fine. What about you?

Runa : I'm also fine. Have you seen the recent raid (Awfhvb) of mobile courts on food production houses?

Rimi : Yes, I think the mobile court is doing the right task to stop food adulteration.

Runa : Exactly! The adulteration of food is increasing beyond any limit. They are using chemicals to preserve foods.

Rimi : Yes, these chemicals cause many diseases like kidney damage, heart failure and various other kinds of diseases.

Runa : Yes, some traders don't care even to kill innocent (wbixn) people to earn much profit.

Rimi : You're right. They're also mixing chemicals with baby foods.

Runa : Oh, my God! They've become so heartless.

Rimi : Yes, really heartless. Nowadays formalin and carbide are being used much.

Runa : But why these traders are adopting such malpractices (AcKg©)?

26. A dialogue between two friends about proper use of time/ on importance of punctuality.

Dipa : Hello, Tanjia! How're you?

Tanjia : I'm fine. What about you?

Dipa : I'm also fine. But I'm in some trouble.

Tanjia : I'm sorry for that. Can I be of any help to you?

Dipa : You know, Tanjia, I missed many of my classes. And now I'm having trouble with understanding those lessons. Exams are also knocking at the door.

Tanjia : I see you are really in a great problem. In this case, I'm lucky enough because I maintained punctuality and attended classes in time.

Dipa : Really you did a good job. Now I can realize that I've made a great mistake

Tanjia : It's really unfortunate. We should maintain strict punctuality in our student life.

Dipa : You're right.

Tanjia : I feel sorry for you. If you'd completed everything with punctuality, you'd not have been in this situation now.

Dipa : I can now understand the importance of punctuality in student life.

Tanjia : Yes, you must not forget it.

Dipa : Yes, student life is the best time to grow the habit of punctuality.

Tanjia : Exactly! If anyone fails to develop the habit of punctuality, he must suffer.

Dipa : Of course! Thank you for your precious (g~j"evb) suggestion.

Azad : I'm also fine. I've come to know that you've opened a facebook account. Is it true?

Arif : Yes, it is true. Recently I've opened a facebook account.

Azad : Could you please let me know why you've opened the account?

Arif : It's an age of globalization. Internet has made the world a global village. So, I think I'd have a facebook account.

Azad : It's okay if your aim is positive and fair.

Arif : Of course, my aim is positive and fair. Facebook is the most popular social networking site that helps us to connect our relatives and friends living different parts in the world.

Azad : You're right. But you've to remain cautious about connecting unknown people.

Arif : Strange! What's the problem if I connect unknown people?

Azad : You've raised a good question. Unknown people may cheat you in disguise (QÙe+k).

Arif : Yes, I know. Anarchy (AivRKZv/wek,,•Ljv) in different parts of the world is also taking place through facebook.

Azad : Exactly! However, don't be too much addicted to facebook. If you become addicted to it, it will hamper your study and change your mind set.

Arif : Yes, indeed!

Azad : I hope you'll never deviate from (wePz"Z nlqv) the right path. Thank you.

- Raja : Really fantastic! My feeling about the book fair can hardly be expressed in language. By the way, have you visited it recently?
- Suja : No, I'll visit the book fair at the later part of it. I've already made a list of the books I'd like to buy. Have you purchased (wk#bQ) any?
- Raja : Yes, I've purchased five books—all are written by Dr. Muhammad Zafar Iqbal.
- Suja : What's the reason behind purchasing only the books of Dr. Zafar Iqbal?
- Raja : He's my most favourite writer. His books are mostly written on science fiction and are written for children.
- Suja : I appreciate your choice. I've planned to purchase some of his books. I'll also purchase two books of Professor Dr. Anisuzzaman.
- Raja : I may visit the book fair with you again.

- Shuvo : No, I've seen in the newspapers that many countries are experiencing severe cold (Zxeª VvŪv).
- Shahin : But there are many countries which are experiencing severe heat too.
- Shuvo : Yes, all these are happening due to climate change.
- Shahin : You're right. I've also read in the newspapers that due to climate change global warming is increasing in the atmosphere (evqygÊj).

Teacher : What things have you learnt? Can you tell me that?

Myself : Sure. I've learnt about the usefulness of computer, mainly how a modern computer perform complicated work within the shortest possible time.

Teacher : Can you tell me the usefulness of it?

Myself : Sure. Nowadays it has become very essential everywhere. In fact, modern life cannot be imagined without the uses of computer

Teacher : Do you think it can calculate faster than a trained mathematician?

Myself : Of course. It can do calculation faster than human being. It also helps us to store data process and recall them in time of need. In fact, life is very easy with computer.

Teacher : What other things a computer can do for science students?

Myself : It can give a lot of information on science within a few seconds. Besides, we can easily access to any information we need.

Teacher : You really have known much about the importance of computer. Do you have any intention to acquire computer knowledge?

Naseef : Why are you so nervous? Please let me know your problem. It'll be my pleasure if I can help you in any way.

Myself : You can certainly help me. I want to make a good result as you made last year. Now I need to know the strategies you followed to make your brilliant result.

Naseef : It's very simple. I think it's not unknown to you how to make a good result. There is no secret strategy at all, but you must follow certain rules.

Myself : Okay! Please tell me about the rules I should follow.

Naseef : Firstly, you should study regularly. You must not cram anything without understanding. Then you should make your own notes and revise them frequently.

Myself : Nice! What's your suggestion for English and Mathematics?

Naseef : For English and Mathematics your proficiency will depend on constant practice. Every day you will have to take practice-test in writing.

Myself : Excellent! Is there anything more?

Naseef : Yes, you should develop a habit of writing. Whatever you read, you must write it. It'll give you benefits.

Myself : Okay. Do you have any advice for examination?

Naseef : Yes, you should budget your time for exams, makes your handwriting legible, and writes all answers. Avoid unnecessary topics in the answer scripts.

Myself : Thank you for your precious suggestions. I'll surely follow these strategies.

Naseef : You're most welcome. Remember that there is no secret to make a good result but to study regularly.

36. A dialogue between two friends on the impact of information technology on our education.

Rimon : Hello Razon! How are you?

Razon : I'm fine. What about you?

Rimon : I'm fine too. I congratulate you on your brilliant result. Now tell me how did you make such a good result?

Razon : Oh, I see! In fact, I study regularly. Besides I take support from the technology for the preparation.

Rimon : Strange indeed! How do you get support for study from the technology?

Razon : I collect valuable notes and suggestions from the internet. There are also many lectures on different subjects. These help me do well in the examination.

Rimon : Really wonderful! You've done a great job! Now tell me about your future plan of studies.

Razon : I think I'll study Information Technology. But some of my friends advise me to study Fashion Designing.

Rimon : It's true that Information Technology (IT) is in great demand now. But I think you should study in IT. The prospect of IT is bright now in home and abroad.

Razon : I also think so. Knowledge of IT is essential to cope with the modern world.

Rimon : Of course. Knowledge of IT is a must to ensure Digital Bangladesh.

Razon : It means you're also in favour of IT suggesting me to study on IT.

Rimon : Absolutely! I think IT will give you way to make good result as well as better career in future.

Razon : Yes, you're right.

Rimon : Thank you very much. See you again.

Razon : You're most welcome. Good bye.

37. Dialogue Between Two Friends on Law and Order Situation.

Myself : Sharif, what are you doing?

Father : I'm reading newspaper.

Myself : Father, I'm little worried about the law and order situation of the country.

Father : Oh, I see. It has really deteriorated beyond description. We're surrounded by miscreants—here, there, and everywhere.

Myself : Yes, we're in an alarming situation. We aren't safe in any place.

Father : Exactly! There's theft, there's robbery, there's cheating, there's extortion, there's toll-collection, there's looting, and what not everywhere and every time.

Myself : Yes. Murder, rioting, acid throwing, kidnapping and violence upon women are some of the other crimes.

Father : You're right. Cities and towns have become unworthy of living.

Myself : Not only in cities and towns but also in villages crimes have become rampant.

Father : What, do you think, are the causes of this break-down of law and order?

Myself : Causes are not far to seek. Poverty, unemployment and political instability are the main causes.

Father : Yes, unemployment among the young people gives rise to frustration and drug addiction. Besides, there are political violence and campus violence.

Myself : Yes. As a result, the law enforcing agencies are becoming failed to cope with the situation. But they're trying their best to restore law and order situation in the country.

Father : You're right. Everyone should cooperate with the law enforcing agencies to handle the situation strictly.

38. Uses and Abuses of the Internet

Sadia : Hey Srestha, I was just reading an article about how the internet has changed our lives. It's amazing how we can do almost everything online now!

Srestha: That's true, Sadia! The internet has made our lives so much easier. We can get information in seconds, communicate instantly, and even learn new skills from anywhere in the world.

Sadia: Exactly! Online education is one of the biggest advantages. We can watch lectures, attend online classes, and even earn degrees without going to a physical classroom.

Srestha: Yes, and it has also changed how we communicate. We can connect with friends and family through social media, emails, and video calls, no matter where they are.

Sadia: Right! And shopping has become easier too. We can buy almost anything online and have it delivered to our doorstep.

Srestha: Not just shopping—banking, paying bills, and even booking tickets can be done online. It saves a lot of time and effort.

Sadia: True! And let's not forget entertainment. We can watch movies, listen to music, and play games anytime.

Srestha: That's one of my favorite things! But you know, the internet also has some negative sides.

Sadia: Yes, like cybercrime. Many people become victims of hacking, identity theft, and online scams.

Srestha: Exactly! Also, social media addiction is a big problem. Many people waste hours scrolling through their phones instead of being productive.

Sadia: That's a serious issue. Excessive use of the internet can also affect our health. Sitting for long hours and staring at screens can lead to obesity, eye problems, and even stress.

Srestha: And don't forget fake news! The internet is full of false information, and many people believe everything they see without checking the facts.

Sadia: That's why we should always verify information before sharing it. Also, children are exposed to inappropriate content if they are not monitored properly.

Srestha: Yes, parental control and awareness are very important. The internet is a great tool, but we must use it wisely.

Sadia: I completely agree! If used properly, it can be a blessing, but if misused, it can be harmful.

Srestha: So, the key is balance. We should use the internet for learning, communication, and entertainment, but in a responsible way.

Sadia: Absolutely! Let's try to make the best use of it without letting it control our lives.

39. A dialogue about the effects of water pollution

Ayon: Hey Arko, have you noticed how polluted our rivers and lakes have become? The water is no longer clean, and it's affecting both humans and animals.

Arko: Yes, Ayon, water pollution is a serious problem. Many industries dump their waste into rivers, and people throw garbage into water bodies without thinking about the consequences.

Ayon: Exactly! As a result, the water becomes toxic and unsafe for drinking, cooking, and farming. Many people in rural areas rely on river water, and they suffer from serious diseases due to pollution.

Arko: That's true! Contaminated water causes diseases like cholera, diarrhea, and skin infections. It's especially dangerous for children and older people.

Ayon: Not only humans but also aquatic animals are suffering. Fish and other marine creatures are dying because of chemical waste and plastic pollution.

Arko: Yes! And when people eat these contaminated fish, they also get sick. Water pollution is harming the entire food chain.

Ayon: Another big issue is that polluted water affects agriculture. Farmers need clean water for irrigation, but when they use polluted water, crops become unhealthy, and food production decreases.

Arko: That's a serious problem! If water pollution continues, it could lead to food shortages in the future.

Ayon: Exactly! So, we must take action to reduce pollution. The government should strictly monitor industries and stop them from dumping waste into rivers.

Arko: Yes, and people should also be more responsible. We should stop throwing plastic and garbage into water bodies and use dustbins instead.

Ayon: True! We can also raise awareness by educating others about the dangers of water pollution and promoting clean water practices.

Arko: That's a great idea, Ayon! Clean water is essential for life, and we must do everything we can to protect it.

Ayon: Absolutely! Let's take small steps in our daily lives to keep our water sources clean and encourage others to do the same.
